

Thank you for your email and questions. I respond on behalf of all candidates in the 2022 Victorian state election.

Sustainable Australia Party is an independent community movement with a science and evidence-based policy platform - not a left or right wing ideology. Sustainable Australia Party has developed a broad policy platform to address Australia's growing economic, environmental and social problems. For starters, Sustainable Australia Party is campaigning to protect our environment, stop overdevelopment and stop corruption.

In terms of the specific issues you raise, Sustainable Australia Party does not have specific policies, however, supports a fair industrial relations system that recognises the important roles played by both business and unions. We appreciate the important work that unions do to protect and improve the health and well being of workers. While we do not have specific on many of the issues you raise, if elected we would be delighted to meet and work through these important issues in the future. Specific ideas like 4 day working weeks, flexible working options, anti-discrimination reviewing privatisation, affordable and free education and salary incentives to fill job vacancies in regional centres all have great merit.

More generally, you can find the Sustainable Australia Party policy platform here:
